

November 16, 1974

DICK

While I am gone, you and Jerry Jones work out a program to reduce the White House trappings. I want to make sure that we deal with that problem because it is important, not simply because of cost. What really is important is that these people don't get isolated. That includes the use of Deputies, vacations, 3-day weekends, the barbershop, the mess, the cars, the telephones in their houses, all those things, I want to have an approach that we can announce and implement when I get back.

