1. Paola Pansa Friday night asked me if he could get from me a copy of the possible draft declaration that the U.S. is circulated to the fifteen NATO countries. He said that all of the people around the NATO Headquarters from the various fourteen nations seem to have it or have access to it, and that the only one that doesn't is the International Staff, and Jorg Kastl and he are charged by the Ministers with thinking about this problem, and it would be very helpful to them to have the benefit of at least reading this possible draft even though as he understands it, the United States doesn't consider it a US draft.

I indicated that I would get back to him sometime early in the week.
